Re Item V

Reasoned statement with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

The following document is referred to in this communication:

D1 : EP 1 099 884 A (NISSAN MOTOR) 16 May 2001 (2001-05-16)

2 INDEPENDENT CLAIM 1

2.1

The present application does not meet the criteria of Article 33(1) PCT, because the subject-matter of claim 1 is not new in the sense of Article 33(2) PCT. Document D1 discloses (the references in parenthesis applying to this document): a continuously variable ratio transmission assembly ("variator") (1) comprising a roller (18C, 18D, 20C, 20D) which transmits drive between a pair of races (18A, 18B, 20A, 20B), the roller being movable in accordance with changes in variator ratio, a hydraulic actuator(106, 107, 116, 117) which applies a biasing force to the roller, at least one valve (70, 70A) connected to the actuator through a hydraulic line to control pressure applied to the actuator and so to control the biasing force, and an electronic control (300) which determines the required biasing force and sets the valve accordingly, wherein the valve setting is additionally dependent upon a rate of flow in the hydraulic line (see passage cited in the International Search Report: the valve limits the maximum differential pressure over the actuator thus valve setting will depend upon the (wanted/required) rate of flow in the hydraulic line).

3 DEPENDENT CLAIMS 13, 14

Dependent claims 13, 14 do not contain any features which, in combination with the features of any claim to which they refer, meet the requirements of the PCT in respect of novelty and/or inventive step (Article 33(2) and (3) PCT).

4 DEPENDENT CLAIMS 2 - 12

4.1

The combination of the features of dependent claim 2 is neither known from, nor rendered obvious by, the available prior art. This claim meets the requirements of Articles 33(2) and 33(3) PCT.

4.2 The dependent claims 3 - 12 would also meet these requirements when dependent on claim 2.
